

A diagram consisting of a horizontal line with several vertical lines intersecting it at various points, representing a timeline or sequence of events.